

Specificul editorial și locul revistei Transylvania în presa românească (1868-1919)*

Alexandru NICOLAESCU

Keywords: Transylvania magazine, press, Astra, George Barițiu, Transylvania

Abstract

The Place and Editorial Characteristic of Transylvania Journal in the Romanian Press (1868-1919)

In the present research we have analyzed the place that Transylvania magazine had in between the Romanian magazines, starting from the appreciations of the researchers that had studied varied aspects concerning de Association's periodical. We have not left out the papers of those who have dealt with the analysis of the Romanian press' history. Nevertheless, we have relied on our own research made during the doctoral programme, where we studied the evolution of Transylvania magazine between 1868-1919, a time frame that we have included in our present study.

Another problem that we have wanted to highlight is the one linked to the editorial aspect of the magazine. And in this analysis we started from the information supplied by the specific historiography, which we classified according to our own results. Our approach did not stop over every editor between 1868-1919, as a matter of fact we did not even want to do this, to emphasize the general characteristic of the magazine and not the one that stood out in a certain period of time is our goal.

* Această lucrare este elaborată și publicată sub auspiciile Institutului de Cercetare a Calității Vieții, Academia Română ca parte din proiectul co-finanțat de Uniunea Europeană prin Programului Operațional Sectorial Dezvoltarea Resurselor Umane 2007-2013 în cadrul proiectului Pluri și interdisciplinaritate în programe doctorale și postdoctorale Cod Proiect POSDRU/159/1.5/S/141086.

 Universitatea „1 Decembrie 1918” din Alba Iulia (alex_nicolaescu@yahoo.com).