About

As part of Huawei's broader initiative "Seeds for the Future", the Winter School for Female Leadership in the Digital Age represents the company's continued commitment to digital inclusion. We want to close the gender gap and create a world where women are empowered to not just participate, but to thrive and lead everyone to an inclusive digital future.

This vision of equality and inclusion is completely aligned with the European Commission's commitment to achieve a gender equal Europe by 2025. It is also what makes this programme so incredibly dynamic and compelling.
